The Leadership Scholars Certificate Program is a two-year selective, interdisciplinary certificate program that prepares Rutgers undergraduate women to be informed, innovative, and socially responsible leaders.

Leadership Scholars design and implement social action projects to expand their understanding of issues and problems and to develop leadership skills.

This project gives Scholars the opportunity to apply the theoretical knowledge they have gained about leadership, advocacy, and social change with the practical and experiential knowledge they have developed about a particular policy issue or problem through the field site placement. It also further develops leadership skills by giving undergraduates the opportunity to practice leadership through action.

What is something you know now that you wish you would have known earlier in your life?
Do you ever feel worthless?

Your thoughts and feelings are valid, but do not believe those negative thoughts about yourself.

Women building Women is not just a workshop, but a lifestyle.

Women Building Women would provide girls with the tools to denounce the stereotypes that have been forced upon us throughout our upbringing and to eradicate those bad thoughts about ourselves that stem from racism in institutions, in the media, and in individuals.
